INTRODUCTION

Premier Knowledge Presents the Africa Health Resilience Summit 2025. Africa's healthcare sector is facing increasing pressure due to the reduction of U.S. foreign aid, growing infectious and non-communicable diseases (NCDs), and persistent healthcare governance challenges.

As donor funding decreases, African nations must strengthen self-sufficiency, explore new financing models, and establish transparent governance structures to protect public health.

The Africa's Health Resilience Summit 2025 is a must-attend event, uniting government officials, healthcare leaders, researchers, industry experts, and civil society to discuss strategies for health security, ethical leadership, and sustainable financing.

This summit will provide a platform for urgent conversations on funding disruptions, healthcare innovation, ethical governance, and the role of whistle blowers in protecting public health integrity. Participants will gain actionable insights into reducing dependency on foreign aid, improving procurement practices, and leveraging technology for disease control and prevention.

Join us in shaping the future of African healthcare by driving sustainability, transparency, and innovation for a stronger & healthier continent.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Government Health Officials & Policymakers – Strengthening regulations, financing models, and ethical governance.

Healthcare Professionals & Researchers – Learning about disease control, prevention strategies, and treatment advancements.

Procurement & Compliance Executives – Implementing ethical leadership and fraud prevention measures.

NGOs, Aid Organizations & Philanthropic Foundations – Exploring healthcare investment and alternative funding models.

Industry Leaders & Tech Innovators – Discussing AI-driven healthcare solutions and digital transformation strategies.

Legal Experts & Whistleblower Advocates – Ensuring accountability and transparency in healthcare governance.

Nutritionists -Nutrition & Disease Prevention: Malnutrition contributes to non-communicable diseases (NCDs) and weakens immune systems against infectious diseases. Nutritionists can provide insights into diet-based interventions for disease prevention.
